

Before drilling holes in the door, check the location of the holes in the lock installed in the door using the technical documentation of the lock or by disassembling it during assembly.